Praise the Lord. God is Love and Nothing Else.

SYDNEY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

AUSTRALIA, April 7, 1886.

Following is the letter from the Bishop: "CALCUTTA, Feb. 17, 1886.—My Dear Sir:—I have very carefully considered your letter requesting me to ordain you and give you a commission to go and preach the gospel in America, but I am obliged to say that the rules under which all Bishops of the Church of England are bound to act prevent my acceding to your request. My advice to you is to seek holy orders in America from the Episcopal Church. Their orders are as apostolic as the English, having been derived through transmission from the same Divine source.

Wishing you all blessing in any sphere of work that you may be called to undertake, I am yours faithfully,

EDWARD R. CALCUTTA.

I was not surprised at this, though from the frank way in which his Lordship had spoken to me at Lucknow, I was not without hope that this good man would take a little responsibility, considering the case as exceptional. But the bonds of authority are strong in the Church of England. I am glad it is so, though I am personally a sufferer by it. I do not blame the excellent "Edward R. Calcutta," nor the worthy "Thomas V. Lohore," but I am sorry that practically the Church of England has dropped out of her staid church-life one of our Saviors "gifts unto men," which He sent down when He "ascended on high—leading captivity captive," viz: The office of "evangelist." And it is even so. I almost took the good Bishop's breath away by boldly expressing the opinion that the Church's failure to recognize the office and gift had compelled the dear LORD to take up "irregular" like Moody and Whittle and Morhouse to put His church to shame for not doing the harvest work in the way originally appointed. It is the old story, that again and again has cropped out in Israel's history. Aaron haile in answering the key-note of praise set by Moses on the banks of the Red Sea, and so Miriam has to take up the timbrel. If Barak shrinks from attracting attention, in troublous times, and retires to Kedesh-Naphtali; Deborah—a "weak woman"—must judge Israel from "under the palm tree, between Ramah and Bethel," and put the men to shame. And so it is now. The "wise and prudent" are blind as bats, while "the babes" get blessing and wondrous revelations from the LORD.

If there are no "Elders" to respond to the call of sick ones, feeble "mothers in Israel" will take the sacred oil of healing and work wonders in Jesus' name. And a "consecrated cobbler," as Sydney Smith called Wm. Carey, will teach Bishops how to evangelize the heathen, while a plain clerk from a boot store, in our times, sweeps the world before him, because "the clergy" are asleep while souls are perishing. God works through "His Church," if only that church will let Him. If not, He has other resources and if the church fails Him, will turn to them. Though the choice is not HIS, "in decency and order" is His first wish. "By any means" is the forced alternative. So we have Moody and Sankey—ranging the world; and the Y. M. C. A. establishing an imperium in imperio; and women doing men's work; and Tom, Dick and Harry standing in the "holy places," authorized by nobody; and the "confusion worse confounded" spread all around us, until bewildered souls wonder whether there is a church at all, or a "King in Israel"—meaning that "every man does what is right in his own eyes," and scornfully rejects authority, save what he "evolves from his own inner consciousness." It is a miserable spectacle, indeed. Angels weep over it and the heart of our Jesus bleeds afresh, as He looks down from the Father's right hand.

I have not answered the Bishop's letter. I do not know that I shall. I could easily show him that he is very inconsistent in shelving the responsibility upon an American Episcopate. But what? Unless some one breaks a bit of red tape, I shall have to preach on "irregularity" I suppose. For preach I must, whether Bishops are willing or not. It really comes to this. "Who is me if I preach not?" So I file away the letters of "Thos. V." and "Edward R." with a little sigh of weariness and turn to the "Chief Shepherd" with the unpeaked relief of feeling that HE knows all about it and will cause all to "work together for good."

Last Sabbath we were all "confirmed" in the little suburban church of St. Saviour's—Redfern, by the Bishop of New South Wales, the good Dr. Barry. The 11th of April will be a memorable date to all of our little "Troupe."

Redfern is a suburb of Sydney and the Rev. A. Stoddart is the rector of St. Saviour. We were confirmed there, simply because it was the first available confirmation on the Bishop's list. I lost no time in calling on him, after arriving in Sydney and telling him my little story. He was very kind, and while casting all the responsibility of the step on ourselves, as was right, he most courteously gave every facility in his power to smooth our entrance into the Church. He gave me a letter to the rector of St. Saviour's, Redfern, with which I sallied forth to hunt the place up. The steam tram took me to Redfern. So far, so good. I stepped into the post and telegraph office as the most likely place to get information. An elderly person, the only occupant, undertook to direct me to the church I sought. He went out, bare-headed, to the street corner with me. "Do you see that big tower with the little one beside it?" "Yes." "Well, that's it." And he returned to his desk. "The big tower, with the little one beside it" was half a mile away. When I reached it, through the broiling sunshine, I found from the brass plate on the wall that it was St. Paul's. The children were pouring out from the school-house in the rear, for their noon recess. A bright little fellow rushed past me, whom I halted: "Can you tell me where St. Saviour's is, my boy?" "Yes, you go right straight up this street to the end of it (pointing up an interminable vista of new brick cottages) and then go down that way" (cleaving the air with his hand, emphatically, to the right) and you will see a new church that they are building; that's it." And away he ran after his comrades, but not before he had done his very best to enlighten me by repeating his directions. I am sorry to say I did not implicitly trust the child. The old gentleman at the postoffice had shaken my confidence in human nature—old and young. So while walking up the street, as the lad had pointed out, I sought confirmation as to the correctness of his guidance from a knot of larger school boys, who were just issuing from their school for a nooning. They gathered around me, after the fashion of curious boys. But they were grossly ignorant of the locality that I sought. From which I inferred that there was a dissenting school, while my first little chap went, I knew, to "The Church" establishment. Another boy rushed up at this juncture, breathless, as boys generally are, and having imperfectly heard something, inquired, "What does he want—St. David?" "No; St. Saviour's," said the others in chorus, with that perversion of pronunciation imported from the old country, that "braying with a pestle in a mortar" will not eliminate from a Briton, the world around. The breathless boy looked blank at this. His knowledge of "St. David's" was not wanted. He had nothing else. So he breathed hard, and was abashed. Then they all said "St. Saviour's" in turn, in an inquiring sort of way, as if the repetition of the word might suggest something; meanwhile staring into the vacancy above, after a fashion we have all seen. Seeing I could get nothing from them, I thanked them and fell back on my little churchman, and following his directions with exactness found that he was correct. But it was a long, hot walk.

The young rector was inspecting his new church, which was almost ready for the roof and will be a pretty structure when finished. The church where he preaches is in the rear and a wooden, temporary house, that will do for small meetings or a school-room, when the larger one is completed. Mr. Stoddart is a pleasant gentleman, who did all he could for us, also; and after he had made all proper inquiries, asked us to be present the following Sabbath at 3 P. M., promptly. This we were, and in company with about 40 ladies and ladies were duly confirmed.

Our good Bishop is the image of our old friend Judge Reid, of Orangeville once, of heaven now, which remarkable likeness drew our hearts quickly and tenderly towards him. And then, he was so fatherly and gentle and affectionate in his address—before and after confirmation; so sweetly "gospel" in his way of putting everything; and withal so tenderly eloquent, that we quite fell in love with him and praised the LORD for sending such a dear "under shepherd" to induce us into His earthly fold. I shall never forget the touch of the good Bishop's hand upon my head, nor the rich tones of his dear, mellow voice, as he said: "Defend, O Lord, this Thy servant with Thy heavenly grace, that he may continue Thine forever; and daily increase in Thy holy Spirit more and more, until he come unto Thy everlasting kingdom, Amen."

The pith of the pre-confirmation address was this: "Confirmation is not what you are to do for the LORD, but a reception of what the LORD will do for you." You can imagine how that sort of gospel thrilled me. The post-confirmation address was a very sweet exposition of the words quoted above. He took up the three-fold prayer, showing that it meant: 1. Steadfastness. 2. Progress. 3. Triumph. It was all lovely and real and we came away with hearts full of thankfulness to the dear LORD for so ordering our "confirmation" in the "Church of our Fathers."

Easter Sunday we return to St. Saviour's for our first communion after confirmation. Between these two dates, if the LORD will, I shall have entered my 60th year. I feel as Chalmers did, that the 7th decade of one's earthly life ought to be a Sabbath decade, full of celestial peace and rest and heavenly anticipation. And I do feel that the LORD will make this true for me, as I put my trust in Him. But all will not see that this "Church" light is an advance instead of retrogression, and I can not blame them for not seeing as I do. Only I know that it is progress, whatever others may think of it.

We are getting into a blessed line of work, with good prospects of effecting a lodgment in the Calendar; but I will not add anything now to this sketch of our confirmation, but leave it, a topic by itself. Some will praise this letter with peculiar pleasure, I know. Others with the coldest indifference; and some also with hostile eyes. I am sorry for that, for I would fain have all to share my new joy. But well, I know it can not be. Yet to one and all I am Ever in Jesus,

GEO. O. BARNES.

The Law Authorizing a Vote on Prohibition.
At the request of the friends of prohibition, we publish the following act to authorize the people of Lincoln county to vote on prohibiting the sale of liquors and fixing a penalty for the sale of liquor in said county.

Be enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

§ 1. That the officers appointed by the county court of Lincoln county, Kentucky, to hold elections in said county in the year 1886, are hereby authorized to open a poll at the various voting places in said county on the 21st Saturday in the month of September, 1886, to take the sense of the people on the question of prohibiting the sale of liquor in said county. The polls shall be kept open by the officers of election from 7 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M., and the question shall be put to each voter, "Are you for or against the sale of liquor in Lincoln county?"

§ 2. The poll books of the election ordered by the first section of this act shall be returned to the clerk's office of Lincoln county by the Wednesday after the election, properly sealed and signed, as other poll books are by law required to be signed and sealed. Said book shall be opened by the county judge, clerk and sheriff and the votes by them counted, and if it shall be shown by said count that a majority of those voting at said election have voted for prohibiting the sale of liquor in said county, the result shall be so declared by being entered on the order book of the said county court for Lincoln county.

§ 3. That if it be ascertained by the election ordered by the first section of this act that a majority of those voting at said election voted to prohibit the sale of liquor in said county, then it shall be unlawful from and after the result of said election is entered in the order book of the clerk's office, for any person or persons to sell, spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in said county, provided that any person or persons who may at the time of said election have license to sell liquor as a beverage may continue to do so until the expiration of the time for which the license was given.

§ 4. That after the entry of the result of said election shall have been made, the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in said county shall be considered a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 for each offense and each sale shall be considered a separate offense.

§ 5. That the county judge, police judge and magistrates of said county are authorized to issue a warrant of arrest upon the oath of any respectable citizen of said county against any one charged with the offense of violating the third section of this law, without indictment by a grand jury, provided the Commonwealth's attorney or the defendant may demand and have a jury to try the case.

§ 6. That should a majority of those voting at said election vote against prohibiting the sale of liquor in said county, authority is hereby given the county judge of Lincoln county to call another election for the same purpose at some other time, not less than one year from the time of holding the first election, and should a majority of the voters, who voted at the second election, vote against the sale of liquor in said county and the result thereof entered of record, then the provisions of this act shall at once thereafter be in full force and effect, as though a majority had voted for prohibition at the first election authorized by this act.

§ 7. That this act shall be in force from its passage.

—At present there is something over $91,000,000 in silver dollars in the government vaults.

BRIGHT, LINCOLN COUNTY.

Our farmers are beginning to cast in their sickles, for I tell you the harvest is plentiful; the present crop is quite at the maximum.—Miss Mary Gully, of Garrar's, is visiting Miss Fannie Schope, this week. Miss Hattie Robinson, who has been attending the female college at Millersburg, returned home a few days since, accompanied by Miss McDonald, one of her classmates. Mr. James B. Robinson, who has been attending the Bible College at Lexington for the past ten months, returned a short time since. Mr. Vance, who has been stationed at Danville for a few days buying horses, passed through our village Wednesday. Our young friend and fellow soldier, Henry White, returned from Greenwood last week. Says he has no particular fancy for camp life. Rev. Linsay, of Danville, accompanied by his little daughter, Miss Lucy, have been in our midst for the past few days.—The work on the new church at this place has commenced; the foundation will be built out of beautiful cutstone from the chisel of the skillful sculptor, Professor John Sullivan.—The colored folks' revival closed last Sunday. It has been in progress for about four weeks. The baptizing was the largest, perhaps, that ever took place in this part of Kentucky. About 1,000 people assembled at the Hanging Fork bridge at 10 A. M. Sunday, mostly colored, to witness the baptizing of 62 candidates, who presented themselves on that occasion. The Rev. Wallace Fisher informed us that 119 persons have been baptized at the above mentioned place in the six weeks. He wishes to thank both white and black for the contribution made to him while here.—Eld. Joe Q. Montgomery delivered a very interesting temperance lecture to a full house at this place. He took the vote at the close of his address, and nearly the entire audience voted prohibition. Look out for the 21st Saturday in September; we will be there full fledged for prohibition.

Hon. G. A. Denham Endorsed.

At a convention of the democrats of Whitley county convened in pursuance of a call of the executive committee of this Superior Court district on the 12th day of June 1886, in Williamsburg, William M. Blain was elected chairman and George S. Penley secretary. On motion the following committee on resolutions was appointed: J. R. Sampson, A. S. Wood, A. Gatlin, M. E. Mahan, K. D. Perkins. The following resolutions were reported by the chairman of the committee on resolutions and was on motion adopted by the unanimous vote of the convention: WHEREAS, Our countryman, Hon. G. A. Denham, is a candidate for Congress in the 11th Congressional district of Kentucky and

WHEREAS, We know Mr. Denham to be a true man, faithful to every trust and a democrat of unwavering fidelity to principles of the party, and a man who would by his faithfulness to the trust imposed on him, his attention to the duties of the position and his ability and learning be useful to the State and district and reflect credit upon his district as a member of Congress, and

Resolved, That the democrats of Whitley county in mass meeting assembled do recommend the Hon. G. A. Denham to the democrats of this district for representative in the next Congress as a man in every way worthy of the suffrages of the people and party and as the strongest man who can be chosen as the standard-bearer of the party.

Resolved, That a copy be sent to the Williamsburg Times, Columbia Spectator, Courier Journal, Yosemite News and INTERIOR JOURNAL, and requested to publish this resolution. WM. M. BLAIN, Chmn. GEO. S. PENLEY, Sec'y.

—Information comes from St. Louis that the servant girls are joining the Knights of Labor. It is proposed, it is said, to have a National wing of the K. of L. to be composed exclusively of women who gain a livelihood as house-servants.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Texas, by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills, and by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two boxes of the Discovery he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial bottles of this Great Discovery for Consumption free at Penny & McAllister's.

The Bucket Pump & Water Purifier

Is an improvement on any pump or Elevator yet invented. The cups draw out all air and ascending full of water, circulates the air from bottom to top of cylinder or well, removing worms, water bugs and rendering the water purer, saving all color, bad taste or smell. This Pump has an improved chamber; no links to get twisted; each cup is soldered permanently, and fastened with a flat piece of galvanized iron in set. Do not purchase a pump until you see this. Very respectfully,
